Our recently added Executive Education offer, provides opportunities to engage with industry stakeholders and policy makers.

Professor / Associate Professor in Urban Economics

Application deadline 6 June 2022, 23.59

We are seeking to appoint a Professor / Associate Professor in Urban Economics to lead and strengthen this subject area where we recently recruited 2 Lecturers (Assistant Professors in US system). It represents a key area where we will also continue to grow and invest in over the next few years.

This post is aimed at an active senior researcher with an established record of internationally recognised publications. As our teaching approach is normally research led, we welcome applicants with research interest in areas related to the broader field of economics and urban / real estate markets. Some examples of key areas of expertise and research are:

- Urban Economics
- Spatial Economics
- Economic Geography
- Real Estate Economics
